

Buy & Build

We have a strong track record of helping businesses on a buy & build strategy.

Why Roxburgh Milkins?

Clients need their advisers to help streamline the acquisition process - not prolong it.

Target companies need to be acquired as efficiently as possible so that they can be integrated into the group and their value realised. We then move on to the next acquisition.

We're completely focused on helping our clients achieve this. It sounds obvious but not all lawyers do it. We do it by:

- Understanding our client's business, the long-term objectives and the strategic objectives of each acquisition.
- Building a bespoke process with the client for how we project manage each acquisition integration - taking as much off our client's plate as possible.
- Being commercial and no-nonsense in the way we give advice and negotiate.
- Delivering excellent service and responsiveness - always keeping up momentum to get the deal done.

Clients have come to us because they have not received the same service elsewhere. They have engaged large firms (or their investors have), who don't deliver a bespoke service, aren't responsive but still charge fees that are too high or, they have realised we are simply a better fit for the deal.
